

FACTSHEET

Performance Returns

The North MaxQ Macro UCITS Fund (USD Inst. Class) return for the May 2017 period (26th April 2017 to 31st May 2017) was -0.19% bringing the year-to-date return to -2.95%.

Fund Overview

The North MaxQ Macro UCITS Fund is a global macro fund that seeks to generate absolute positive returns over a market cycle that is uncorrelated to other global macro managers, the broad fund universe as well as interest rate, foreign exchange and equity indices. The investment manager identifies micro-economic and country specific imbalances to develop views and corresponding trading strategies. These strategies provide a diverse source of alpha and are expressed through thematic, relative value, counter-trend and quantitative exposures. The exposures are constructed to offer the best asymmetric payoff, while minimising expected correlations and providing protection against downside gap-risk. The investment manager prefers to take risk across a number of different strategies. Risk is monitored in real-time at the strategy and portfolio level and individual strategy stop-loss limits are established at the inception of each trade.

Monthly Market Commentary

Markets were rather subdued during the month of May, with the exception of Brazil, where news that President Temer may be implicated in a cover-up scandal led to a selloff in local assets. US economic data releases in May continued to surprise to the downside, compared to consensus expectations, but never the less suggest a bounce back after the seasonally weak Q1. Political developments in the US remained unpredictable, with the DoJ appointing a special counsel to lead a federal investigation into alleged ties between Donald Trump's campaign and Russian operatives. Historically such investigations have led to a weakening of the Presidency and its ability to enact substantive legislative reforms, something that could weigh on markets, which are discounting significant tax reforms. European assets continued to rally during the month of May, buoyed by a more stable political outlook and positive economic data releases. In Asia, Chinese data suggest that growth most likely peaked in Q1 and should slow down during the rest of the year. This in turn should weigh on commodity currencies. Fund performance in May was lacklustre, with no specific strategy having an outsized contribution. Core positions are short Sterling, long the Norwegian and Swedish Krone, paying CZK rates, a relative value position in Brazil rates, and long FX and Equity volatility.
